Tree Lists Pros, Cons Of Being in Public Eye

By A. Christmas Tree

I'm a Christmas tree. Now c'mon, don't throw the paper away and say words like that because it's not nice to do this time of year. I mean, just because I stated the fact that I am a Christmas tree doesn't mean this has to be a story about Christmas cheer and a Happy New Year.

So, stick with it, huh? Read on a little further while I sort of philosophize a little. After all, it is about that time of the year, and I am a Christmas tree. There's just no getting around it.

They brought me here last week. I mean they brought me here to this very college, Hartnell college, and a couple of guys set me up in the main hall and then a bunch of giggling little girls came along with red and green bulbs and lights and no kiddin', they really did me up good an' proper.

Ya know, when I was being cut down this Douglas fir next to me said, "Man, you have had it. It's Christmas time and you are goona be put in some hot, stuffy little room with packages under you, kitty cats and dogs hitting the decorations stuck all over you, little kids running around you and screaming and everything." I think he was jealous because he was too little to be cut down.

Load Gets Heavy

I don't really know how he knew so much about it, but he seemed to, so naturally I was scared pretty much. I mean, how would you feel with your branches weighted down and all? Truthfully speaking, it did not look good to me at all.

Educator Talks On Red Schools

Tom Turner, superintendent of Pacific Grove schools, told Hartnell students Wednesday that the Russian system of education would not work in the United States and the American system would not be successful in the Soviet Union.

Turner, who spent two weeks in Russia last summer, said the Russian education system is based on rigid regulations and examinations. He said 25 per cent of Russia's children complete ten years of schooling, the equivalent of a high school education.

He described a class system in which educated people have a high standard of living.

Food Sought

The Hartnell Newman club is collaborating with Sacred Heart parish in promoting a canned goods drive in order to supply the needy with a happier Christmas.

Club members are donating food to the cause and trying to secure as much food as possible from various sources.

Rating Group Visits Hartnell

Hartnell college was visited by an accreditation team from the Western College association yesterday. The team chairman was J. W. McDaniel, vice-president of San Bernardino Valley college.

All six members of the team had dinner with the college board of directors, administrators, and deans Wednesday night.

The accreditation team investigated various aspects of the college program. Hartnell is one of 20 colleges being considered for accreditation this year. No report is expected for several months.

Tutors Feted

The Hartnell faculty open house was held yesterday in room 35 with the assistance of the Colhecon club, which served Christmas cookies, candies, coffee and tea to the faculty members.

Colhecon is in the process of collecting canned goods for the Salinas Rescue Mission in preparation for Christmas.

Thespians Prepare for Show

Olin Resigns

Fred Olin resigned as vice-president of the associated students of Hartnell college Tuesday. Olin said he must work to support his family. He is married and has a son.

The student commission accepted the resignation and is sending Olin a letter of appreciation for his work.

According to the student constitution, the sophomore representative automatically succeeds Olin. Ethel Boutte will be the new vice-president.

Dramatists Hold Sale Today; Dance at Italian Villa Sunday

The Drama club is holding a Christmas pie sale featuring hot apple pie in the student union today. Sunday night, following the Hartnell college-community playhouse production of Leo Tolstoy's "What Men Live By" on KSBW-TV, the cast and the other members of the drama club will hold a dinner dance at the Italian Villa.

Mr. Ulrici announced the Drama club sweaters with the special drama emblem have arrived and are on sale to the members of the Drama club at cost. The jacket type sells for $4.10, while the slipover sells for $2.85. A dozen of each was ordered.

Brenda Pagacian was chosen chairman of the scrapbook committee which is putting together a scrapbook covering the last ten years. There are pictures representing over 50 plays.

Club Holds Party

The International club will hold a Christmas party from 8 to 11 p.m. today in the student union. Decorations will include Christmas greetings in different languages, including Hungarian, Danish and Spanish. There will be dancing, refreshments and entertainment, according to Ray Woodward, chairman.

BULLETIN

Bob Harrison, Hartnell tackle, was named to the junior college all-American team by the Williamson National Football Rating system of Houston, Texas. The announcement of the result of balloting among the nation's coaches was made Wednesday.

Madrigals Practice With Director

■ The college Madrigal singers have been performing for various organizations during the pre-Christmas period. Shown during a recent rehearsal with their director, Mr. Robert Lee, are, front, left to right, Carol Lasserot, Elizabeth Brazil, Diane Hayes, Carolyn Raney, Elsbeth Alioto; center, Edmund Clark, Eleanor Hill, Maynard Potter, Alma Craig; rear, William Stretch, Ellis Wheeler, Charles Allen, Rosalie Mascovich.

Drive Carefully, Return Jan. 5

Seventeen long days away from rooms and teachers lie before us, starting after classes today and ending Jan. 5 next year. Can you imagine that? Read on.

Some of you will be taking short, long, out-of-state, and, perhaps even foreign, trips.

Whichever it is, we particularly want to remind those of you who will be driving to ease up on the gas and the alcohol. Our state has more cars on its highways than any other state in the nation and also leads in motor fatalities each year.

We all want to enjoy our leisure—and who doesn't? We can do that and beat the statistics too by staying alive. We want you back in one solid piece for the next 365 days.

Hoping it's going to be a pleasant vacation for one and all, we extend our best wishes for a very Merry Christmas and a Happy New Year.

Ten Women Represent Hartnell Against Off-Campus Foes

Ten women are representing the Hartnell Women's Athletic association in basketball games against recreation league, church and junior college teams from the area. Miss Ruth Dally is the coach.

Custodian Returns

Tony Senko, head custodian of Hartnell college, is back at school after a two months' absence for his third eye operation. Senko has been at Hartnell for the past 15 years.

The team has played four games, losing twice to a Santa Cruz Recreation league all-star team and dropping two games to the women from Monterey Peninsula college. Miss Dally said all the games were close, and the Hartnell women are getting better organized and should win some games soon.

Games are arranged on an informal basis. Currently in the negotiation stage are contests with the Fort Ord WAC's Jan. 8, the Salinas Buddhist church and another Santa Cruz sextette Jan. -19.

Beth Plesche is team captain. Other players are Verna Lipska, Pearl Mak, Shirlee Crader, Jeannine Hubbard, Nelia Lorejo, Becky Sadler, Diane Hayes and June Kimoto.

Awards Rally Set For Today

The awards rally will be held today at 9 a.m. Mr. Henry Casady will give a short address on thoughts and remembrances of the undefeated 1958 Hartnell football team.

The Hartnell basketball team will be introduced. The football players, managers and coaches will receive special jackets. Harry Flint, homecoming parade grand marshal, will award the trophy for the winning float.

Education Club Has Yule Party

Sixteen members of the Hartnell Education club attended a Christmas party at the juvenile hall yesterday.

Entertainment was provided by the Filipino dancers: Virginia Tagala, Virginia Dizon, Sixto Funtanilla and Simon Danzalan, and the Hawaiian singers: Val Marciel, Fred Char and Edmund Clark. Terrie LaMacchia played and sung.

Community Christmas songs were led by Jeannine Hubbard with accompaniment by Sharon Tedrick.

Three Hart Tutors Rally After Surgery

Mr. Wilbert Robinson, Mr. Robert Lee and Dr. Michael Samsonow will resume their teaching duties after the first of the year. They have been recovering from surgery.

Mr. Robinson has missed about two months of school but has been visiting his classroom this week.

Dr. Samsonow was still in the hospital when Panther Sentinel went to press.

Mr. Lee has been in the hospital this week.

Rings on Sale

The sale of men's and women's class rings and pins started Monday in the student store. Men's rings cost $24.50, women's rings $20.60 and pins are $14.60.

WITNESS FOR THE INSTITUTION

Faculty, Students Await Visit by Whiskered Gent

By Raymondo

Tomorrow is the beginning of the biggest vacation of the year. Everyone is scurrying around getting ready to go home so Santa Claus will be sure to find stockings at the regular positions on the old fireplace mantels.

Old Santa will not find Miss June Handley at home this year. She will spend the holidays in lovely Hawaii. Dr. Jerome Holmes will stay home and await a new arrival in the family. Miss Eleanor Perry will journey to San Francisco. Dr. Donald Head will go to Sacramento, and Mr. Walter Leineke will also visit the capital city. Dr. Lionel Olsen will go to San Joaquin valley. Mr. Darwin Peavy visits at China Lake, and Mr. Robert B. Johnson will spend Christmas with his son and family in Berkeley. Mr. Hal Ulrici will enjoy his leisure time aromatic Vacaville, the onion and garlic center of the world.

Dufour Will Work During Holidays

The most devoted man on the faculty is Mr. Stuart Dufour. He assures me he will remain at his desk hard at work over the holidays.

Coach Ken Blue will just stay home and read over his news clippings. Cabanyog, Stireman, Harrison and company have already given him the finest Christmas present a coach could ever ask for.

Coach James Muldoon is asking Santa to bring him smaller baskets for the opponents and larger baskets for the Panthers.

Don't Break Anything, Coach

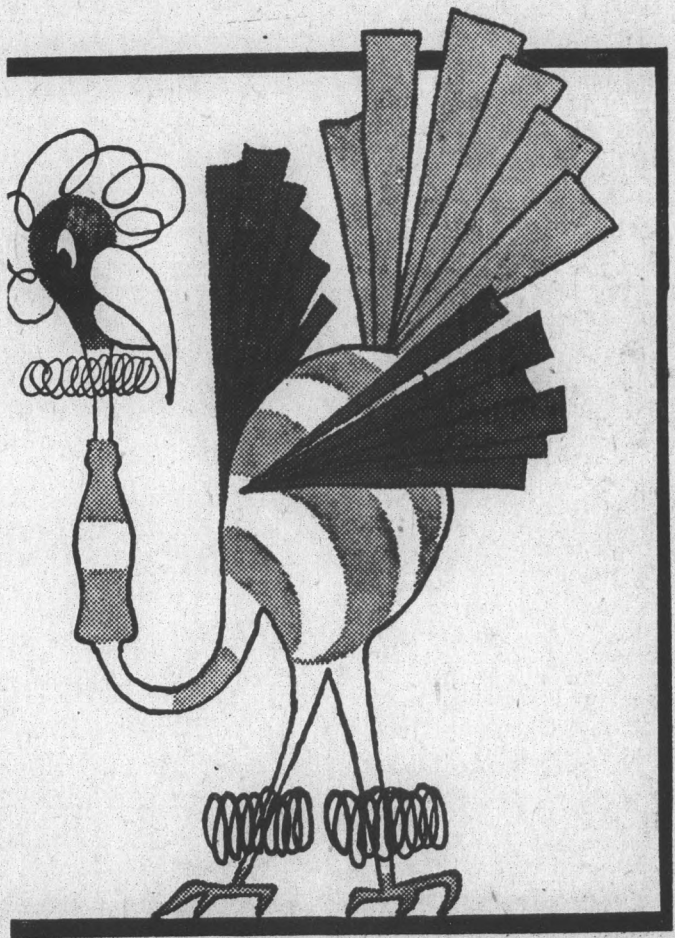

Coach Ed Adams is planning to do some skiing if the snow would oblige by arriving in time.

The quartet, Maynard Potter, Chuck Allen, Ellis Wheeler, and Joe Palascio will do a TV show over KSBW on the 27th.

Linda and Joan Gelzinnus are going to Nevada. Good luck, girls.

Jerry Smith will travel to Anchorage, Alaska. Clem DeLuca goes home to Chicago, and Carl Bergeron will visit his home at Newport Bay. Ruben Rueda will spend the holidays touring the state with his in-laws from Baltimore, Md. Lloyd Ebel says he will spend every day of the vacation studying in the library. Studying? That we'll have to see.

Bill Throgmorton was checking on his four-year-old. Bill: "Linda, what are you doing?" Linda: "What CAN I do with you, and God and Santa Claus watching all the time?"

Blue Chosen Co-Coach Of Western Grid Stars

The third annual East-West junior college all-star game will be played at Stockton tomorrow at 7:30 p.m. Coach Ken Blue, who left Salinas Saturday along with Jim Stireman, Bob Cabanyog and Bob Harrison, announced Wednesday night that the three Hartnell players will probably start for his West team.

Coach Blue is a co-coach along with Ray Clemons of Sacramento City college, and John Giannoni of Lodi high school. The game is sponsored by the Wigwam Wisemen of America and the Stockton Quarterback club.

The three players from Hartnell are more than one college has ever placed on the squad before. If someone is hurt, there is a good chance that Ken Blanton, who is one of the first alternates, will be added to the squad as a fourth member from Hartnell.

It is expected that approximately 100 scouts from four-year colleges will be on hand to see the game.

The contest is for the benefit of underprivileged children.

TREE LISTS . . .

So, they put me on this truck and eventually I ended up here. Did you know that Christmas trees cry sometimes? Now, I'm not getting sentimental or anything, but some of them really cry. It's like when they flock you or spray with pink, or lavender, or gold or something. I mean all that stuff doesn't smell so good and you feel kind of unnatural and a tree, especially a female one, can get pretty shook. Now, don't say Christmas trees can't smell. Haven't you ever heard somebody say, "Gee, that Christmas tree smells good." So there you are.

I probably could go on all day, but classes are being let out and students are crowding the halls. Couple o' guys went by and one said to the other, "Boy, am I gonna get stewed on Christmas eve. I got this little chick from MPC and we . . ." and so it goes. That's what I call Christmas spirit.

A young feminine thing looked at me a couple o' minutes ago and said something to this little friend of hers about how Bobby or somebody was gonna give her a real cashmere something or other for Christmas. Hope she isn't countin' her chickens before they're hatched.

So, it's not a bad life. You can't help but feel that you really do stand for something special because this is sort of a special time of the year. Do me a favor. Don't forget it.

Bulldogs, Rams Hand Hoopmen More Setbacks

The Panther basketballers were taken two more times last week end when they lost to San Mateo Bulldogs by a small margin of 67-63 and left a more decisive victory to the Fresno Rams in a 94-66 tally. The setbacks extended the Panther streak to four straight losses.

On Friday night, Hartnell cagers were behind the Fresno squad by only six points at half-time, but the Rams gored the Panthers in about the last 10 minutes of play to pull ahead to a 28-point lead and the victory.

Jerry Kanada took the Panther scoring honors with 20 points. Kanada was followed by Kirk Fowler who chalked up 14; Jerry Smith had 11; Bob Flores, Frank Filice and Dennis Anderson had six each; John Vear made two, and Dennis Davidson one.

Friday's Game Close

Friday evening the four-point difference which meant defeat for the Panthers came after a game which was close throughout. Scores like 11-11 and 43-42 were blinked on the scoreboard during the game.

Kanada led scoring with 15 tallies, just two points ahead of Smith. Flores made 11; Fowler had nine, and Porter, Filice and Anderson scored six, five and four, respectively.

In over-all statistics for the four games played, Fowler is top man with 73 points for an 18.3 average. Flores, the team's only letterman, is runner-up with a 13.3 average for 53 points. In third spot is Kanada who has been good for 43 points and a 10.3 mark.

Ski Club Cancels Initial Outing

The Ski club has cancelled its December trip because of a lack of sufficient snow.

On Dec. 12, the Ski club saw "Ski De France," a color movie in which Emile Alais, famous French skier, demonstrated the French parallel method of skiing.

Jazzers Meet

The Jazz club held its Christmas party last night at the home of Dr. D. W. Head. The members of the Jazz club and their dates listened to jazz recordings and were served refreshments.

Cindermen Lose Cabanyog, Stireman, Harrison, Because of State Ruling on JC All-Star Game

Three Hartnell college track stars will be ineligible for the coming season for participating in tomorrow night's East-West junior college all-star football game at Stockton Saturday night.

According to a United Press International report, Dr. Ed Simonsen, president of Bakersfield college and chairman of the California Junior College association athletic committee, says the state group has refused to sanction the game. A section of the junior college code states that athletes who participate in non-approved postseason games are ineligible for junior college sports.

Unless the ruling is relaxed, the three Hartnell football-track players will not be eligible for spring sports. They include Bob Harrison, weight man on the track team; Jim Stireman, weight man and broad jumper, and Bob Cabanyog, hurdler and pole vaulter.

Several other players on the all-star squad, including Charley Fuller, Vallejo's top dash man, will be unable to participate in spring sports. Ray Jackson, Bakersfield sprinter, was selected for the all-stars, but he received a broken hand in the Potato bowl game and will be unable to play.

Mose Sims, publicity director for the Stockton game, told the Sentinel Tuesday that all players who were invited to the game were required to state that eligibility for junior college sports had been completed. He said one player, a basketball star, asked about the ruling and has been made manager of one of the teams to protect his eligibility.

Group Holds Potluck Dinner

Members of the Hartnell Interservice Christian Fellowship held a potluck dinner in the Home Economics kitchen Dec. 12.

After playing miniature golf and eating dinner, the group visited the Monterey Peninsula college IVCF.

GREG'S GRIPES

Improvement Anticipated

By Jim Gregory

Santa Monica 30, Northeastern Oklahoma 12.

That's what the number five team did. We wonder what the number three team could have done.

The basketball team lost another game. This one was by a larger score. We still say they have a good team.

Jerry Kanada came through as we predicted, but what happened to Fowler and Flores?

A prediction:

This will come out after the tourney has started, but we say watch the Panthers in the tourney. They'll break their losing streak anyway and may go a little farther than that. They could take it.

Thanks, Friends

Hartnell received many letters of sympathy from Coast conference colleges concerning snubbing by the bowl committees. Some colleges wrote letters to the Rose bowl committee.

This is good. It may be too late for Hartnell to be recognized, but if the conference works together as a whole, there is a good chance that the committees in the south will have a hard time snubbing the conference teams in the future.

We see in the Monterey Peninsula college paper that Santa Monica spent approximately $60,000 on its football team. Far be it from us to say anything against Santa Monica, but we wouldn't doubt it a bit.

Vallejo Scribes Pick Four Hart Gridders For All-Loop Team

Four Hartnell players were named to the first string all-Coast conference all-star team selected by the Vallejo Times-Herald.

Chosen were Jim Stireman, fullback; Bob Harrison, tackle; Don Rohrke and Roger Anderson, guards.

Hartnell players chosen for the second team were Julian Aguilar, end; Mike Porter, tackle; Bill Elliott, center; Bob Cabanyog, halfback, and Wayne Handley, quarterback.

Ken Blanton, end, received honorable mention.

Vallejo scribes selected two of their own players, Center Lloyd Harvego and Halfback Charley Fuller, for first team honors. Don Wouda, end, and Lee Cooke, fullback, were chosen for the second unit, while Jim Swindle, end, and Clyde Huyck, halfback, received honorable mention.

Panthers Receive Gridiron Awards

Bill Elliott, Ken Blanton, Bob Harrison and Bob Cabanyog received the surprise awards for most improved player, most valuable player, lineman and back at the football banquet held Wednesday night at Portuguese hall. Over 200 persons attended the program.

Coach Ken Blue presented the most valuable player award to Elliott, Coach "Barney" Muldoon presented Harrison the most valuable lineman award, and Cabanyog received the most valuable back award from Coach John Schwellenbach.

Other highlights of the football banquet, which featured a steak dinner, were the awarding of the most valuable player awards for the homecoming game to Stireman and Chris Machado, who tied for first place honors, and the presentation of the coast conference awards to Stireman, Don Rohrke, Harrison, Blanton and Cabanyog.

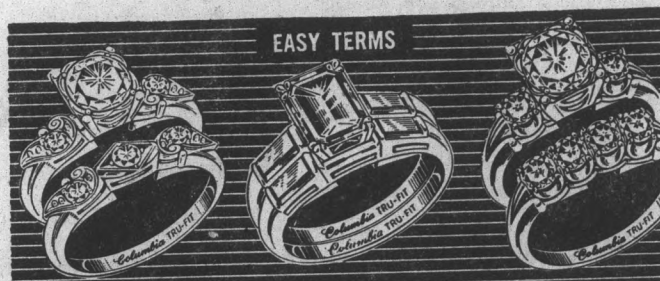

Harrison and Blanton received co-captain awards which were presented by Harry McIntosh, vice-president of the 20-30 club, and certificates were presented to Harrison, Rohrke, Roger Anderson and Stireman. These men were selected to the conference all-star team by the sports staff of the Vallejo Times.

Master of ceremonies was Don Barsotti, and guest speaker was Leroy Hughes, head coach of the Cal Poly football team. Coach Hughes, a former football and basketball letterman at the University of Oregon, has led the Mustangs to a record of 61 wins, 26 losses and one tie.

Harts Seek First Win Of Basketball Season

The Coast conference tournament began yesterday, and Hartnell took on Menlo in the second game. The tournament, which continues today and tomorrow, includes all of the teams in the Coast conference and guest team San Mateo and Reedley.

The game between Hartnell and Menlo should have been a close one. Menlo lost to Moffett Field by a 58-52 score and Hartnell lost to Moffett in overtime.

Hartnell was looking for its first win, as the Panthers have lost to San Mateo, Fresno, Moffett Field and the Cal Poly Frosh.

The first round of play in the tournament put San Mateo against Diablo Valley, Monterey against Vallejo, Menlo against Hartnell and San Jose against Reedley.

San Jose is favored to win the tournament, as they have lost only one game and hold wins over Fresno and San Mateo.
